Shafter Says Loss is Underestimated.

Pando Has Reinforced Santiago.

Washington, July 2, 3:30 p. m.—Because of the conflicting reports of losses in yesterday's battle, the Washington officials have made public the full text of Gen. Shafter's report.

Shafter says that he fears that the reports of the casualities have been underestimated.

He adds that large and thoroughly equipped hospital ships should be sent to Cuba at once with launches and boats for conveying the wounded.

The chief surgeon reports that he has asked for forty more medical officers.

New York, July 2.—A special to the Herald and World from Playa del Este quotes Gen. Garcia as authority for the statement that Gen. Pando has succeeded in entering the city of Santiago with his reinforcements of 6,000 men, together with cattle and provisions. The force of Gen. Linares is thus very materially strengthened.

The force of 2,000 Cuba sent to intercept Pando failed in their mission and were repulsed.

Key West, July 2.—The Spanish steamer Esteuger and the sloop Emmanuel were captured by the Hornet and brought here today.

SUNDAY PAPERS.

P. W. Hall Will Bring in Detroit Papers by Special Train.

No Chicago Sunday papers will be printed tomorrow.

P. W. Hall has spent a small fortune in telegraph and telephone tolls and has arranged to bring in 2,000 copies of the Detroit Sunday Free Press, a 32-page paper. To accomplish this he has arranged for a special train over the M., B. H. & C. road.

This stroke of enterprise will be appreciated.

THE STRIKE

Chicago Evening Papers Will Not Issue Tonight.

Chicago, July 2.—The stereotypers on the Chicago daily papers went out on a strike at midnight and no paper was issued in Chicago this morning. The people were all anxious for war news and had to satisfy themselves with the meagre information contained in the bulletins posted at the newspaper offices. The stereotypers have been receiving $3.25 for a day of eight hours. They demand $4 for a day of seven hours and 75 cents an hour overtime.

The evening papers have posted bulletins announcing that they will not

Latest Report From Friday's Battle.

Fight Will Be Continued to a Finish.

Bravery Exhibited on Both Sides.

Americans Reach Edge of the City.

Washington, July 2.—The battle of Santiago on July 1 will become historic. The battle began early in the morning and continued all day and stopped only with the darkness which settled over the island at 9 o'clock.

The American troops advanced nearly to Santiago and made a heroic record for bravery and endurance. They found the enemy possessed of great bravery and there have been few harder-fought battles. The soldiers slept on their arms and were ready for the second attack which began early this morning.

The American loss is estimated at 1,000 killed and wounded.

SPAIN'S FLEET

Camara's Torpedo Boats Will Return to Cadiz.

Madrid, July 2.—After a cabinet meeting held this morning it was officially announced that Admiral Camara's fleet of torpedo boat destroyers will return to Cadiz at once.

Washington, July 2.—The fitting out of Commodore Watson's flying squadron to bombard the coast of Spain has had the desired effect. Report was received from official sources in Madrid today that Admiral Camara's torpedo fleet, reported to be on its way to the Philippines, has left Port Said on its return trip to Cadiz. The trip to Manila has been abandoned and all hope of wresting the Philippines from Dewey has been abandoned.

HAUSER IS FREE.

He Was Discharged This Morning for Lack of Evidence.

John J. Hauser, who was arrested last week, charged with obtaining fruit under false pretenses had his examination in Justice Baldrey's court this morning and was discharged for lack of evidence, in fact from the evidence produced it was shown that on the day after Hauser had given a check to John Ebert, a Stevensville farmer, for $138.20 Mr. Hauser had over $140 in the bank and that during the berry season last year Mr. Hauser did business with the Union Banking company of St. Joseph to the amount of over $5,000.

Justice Baldrey held that if Mr. Ebert neglected to get the check cashed until after Hauser had exhausted his funds Ebert and not Hauser was to blame.

Mr. Hauser has lived in St. Joseph for many years and his friends will be extremely glad that he is cleared of the disagreeable charge.

33D NOT IN IT.

Benton Harbor Boys Not at Santiago Yesterday.

It is good news to the parents and friends of the boys in the 33d Michigan to know that their boys were not in the Santiago battle yesterday.

Yesterday morning the 33d Michigan was at Jaraugua, ten miles from Santiago. They broke camp in the morning and marched to the assistance of Gen. Kent who is on the seacoast. It is doubtful if they are engaged in the battle today.

WE HAVE SANTIAGO,

One More Day's Fighting Will Give Shafter the Eastern Cuba Stronghold.

GREATEST BATTLE OF THE WAR.

Shafter's Regulars Engaged with the Spaniards Defending the City.

HOT FIGHTING FOR FIVE HOURS

Winds Up with a Spanish Retreat from Their Entrenchments to the City Proper—War Office at Washington Hears of the Fight at 10 A. M. Yesterday, and Then Waits Until This Morning for Further News—Corbin's Explanation of Shafter's Silence: "Too Busy Fighting to Write."

Washington, July 2.—The war department has received the following from General Shafter dated at Siboney yesterday: "Had a very heavy engagement today, which lasted from 8 a. m. to sundown. We have carried their outworks, and are now in possession of them. There is about three-quarters of a mile of open between my line and the city. By morning the troops will be entrenched and a considerable augmentation of forces will be there. General Lawton's division and General Bates' brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p. m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say that our casualties will be above 400. Of these not many are killed."

Washington, July 2.—The signal office has received the following from one of its officers at the front: "The American troops are driving the Spanish troops back. The wounded are being brought in right along."

GENERAL SHAFTER.

Siboney, Cuba, July 2.—[Copyright, 1898, by Associated Press.]—At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after five hours of terrific fighting, the Spanish began to leave their entrenchments ahd retreat into the city. Many Americans were wounded and are being brought in. One man had both arms shot off and was wounded in the hip, but was laughing.

CAPITAL COMMENT ON THE NEWS.

Battle Shows That the Dons Are No Match for Our Troops.

Washington, July 2.—Just two months after the battle of Manila and on the first day of the month, like that glorious engagement, began the first set battle of the war in this hemisphere. What was the result was not known when the departments closed. Never before since the declaration of war has there been such a feeling of intense interest and anxiety manifested. The attack yesterday, several days before the public mind expected the battle, shows that Shafter found it necessary to crush the foe in detail, following Napoleon's maxim, instead of allowing them to consolidate and outnumber him. As the day wore along without bringing any news the anxiety increased and the question was in every one's mouth, "Why did he not report?" Adjutant General Corbin's response was brief but pointed: "He is fighting; not writing."

Washington, July 2.—The suspense which followed the receipt of General Shafter's dispatch early yesterday morning announcing that a battle had been begun near Santiago was relieved at 12:30 this morning when a preliminary report of the day's operations was received by General Corbin from General Shafter. As had been expected by the officials of the war department the fight lasted until sundown. During the day probably it was not possible for Shafter to stop in the midst of the performance of his onerous duties to send dispatches to the department. He was seriously occupied and the work accomplished clearly shows that not much grass grew under his feet during the day. The president and the war officials are immensely pleased at the information conveyed in Shafter's message. The first dispatch from Shafter was received at 10 a. m.

While they learned with sincerest regret that so many of the American troops had fallen in the fight the ground gained by the day's conflict is regarded as a great victory. The battle establishes pretty conclusively that the Spaniards are no match for the enthusiastic and aggressive United States troops. They were driven from their strong entrenchments in front of Santiago back into the city, and the Americans occupied the entrenchments and awaited only the dawn to resume the greater battle. Adjutant General Corbin put the situation strongly and picturesquely this morning while speaking briefly of the aggressiveness and tenacity of General Shafter:

"The old bull dog," said he, referring thus half affectionately to the distinguished commander of the Fifth corps, "is lying right there with his teeth in their neck only waiting the coming of daylight to finish the work he has so magnificently begun. The engagement yesterday was very heavy for a preliminary fight, but it scores a decided victory for us. I regret to know that Shafter has sustained so heavy a loss, but we may hope that there are not, as he says, many killed. It is, however, pretty certain to be true that the loss of an army in an engagement like that of yesterday, where the battle line extended over several miles, will be much heavier than is indicated by the first reports."

A dispatch was received in the cabinet meeting yesterday from Colonel Allen, in charge of the signal station at Playa del Este. He said that the fight was growing furious in all directions. At the time he sent the telegram eight Americans and nine Cubans had been wounded. The Spaniards were shelling the Americans as they advanced and Admiral Sampson's fleet was hotly engaged. The dispatch was received by the members of the cabinet with much enthusiasm.

ST. PAUL AND SPANISH TERROR.

Full Account of the Repulse of the Don's Torpedo Boat.

New York, July 2.—The St. Paul arrived in port last night and anchored off Tompkinsville. Captain Sigsbee and the officers were absolutely inaccessible to press representatives. Considerable information was obtained, nevertheless, from a copy of the St. Paul's war budget, the oracle of the ship, which was obtained. The St. Paul's great exploit on her last trip was the disabling of the Spanish torpedo boat Terror off the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, and being regarded so by the crew the account of it occupies the first place on the first page. The Budget says: "We came off the port on the 22d. At about 12:40 the third-class cruiser Isabel II came out and steaming under the Morro until she was abreast of the batteries, commenced edging out toward us, firing at such a long range that her shots were ineffective.

"As her purpose evidently was to put us within fire of the batteries we took but little notice of her, lying still and occasionally sending in our largest shell at her to try the range. Soon afterwards she dropped to the westward and the torpedo boat destroyer Terror—or it may have been her sister ship the Furor—was sighted steaming along shore under the batteries. Captain Sigsbee watched her for awhile and worked along with her, in order to separate her from the cruiser and keep her in the trough of the sea if she came for us.

"She then headed for us, firing straight as far as direction went, but her shots fell short. When within range of our guns the signal 'commence firing' was made, and for several minutes we let fly our starboard battery at her from 5,500 to 6,000 yards, the shells striking all around her. This stopped her and she turned broadside to us and her fire soon ceased. She then headed in shore to the southward and westward, going slow, and it was evident to all on board that she was crippled, drifting well leeward of the main harbor entrance.

"Off the Morro she flashed some signals to the shore and afterwards a tug came out and towed her into the harbor. All the time the cruiser was firing at us, and some of her shots fell pretty close. The cruiser followed the Terror back towards the port and soon afterwards was joined by a gunboat and the two steamed under the batteries to the eastward. But when the St. Paul, making an inshore turn, seemed to be going for them they returned to the harbor and we saw no more of them."

Dispatch from Admiral Dewey.

Washington, July 2.—The navy department received a dispatch yesterday from Admiral Dewey, dated Cavite, June 27. He made no mention of reinforcements and said he had avoided committing this government to any policy and had left General Merritt free.

Senate and House Doings.

Washington, July 2.—For nearly six hours yesterday the senate had under discussion the Hawaiian annexation resolutions, Pettus of Alabama speaking for annexation, and Mallory of Florida against. Some uninteresting miscellaneous business was transacted.

The house passed a few private bills, but did nothing of general interest, except to adjourn until Tuesday next, abandoning the usual evening session.

Condition of the National Debt.

Washington, July 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Wednesday the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,027,085,492, a decrease during the month of $10,688,268. This decrease is accounted for by a corresponding increase in the amount of cash on hand from the proceeds of the new bond issue. The interest bearing debt is $847,367,470.

Populist National Convention.

Atlanta, Ga., July 2.—The People's Party paper publishes an address from the national organization committee calling for a national convention at Cincinnati, Monday, Sept. 5, to nominate candidates for president and vice president and outline a plan of campaign to cover the next two years in anticipation of the election of 1900.

Revenue Stamps on Bank Checks.

Washington, July 2.—In view of the general pressure from all the large cities of the country for the privilege of imprinting internal revenue stamps on bank checks, it has been concluded to extend the privilege by designating at least one in each of the large cities under proper regulations.

THE EVENING NEWS.

THIRD YEAR—NO. 851. BENTON HARBOR, MICH., SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1898. ONE CENT.

WILL BE BLOWN UP.

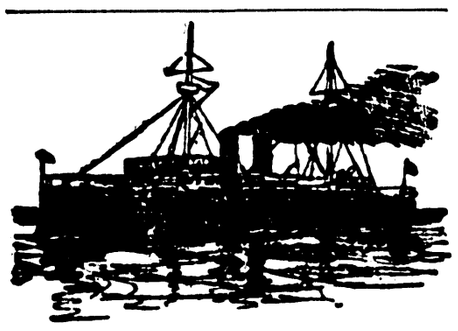

Description of the Spanish Cruiser To Be Destroyed in This City July 4.

WILL BE A GREAT BATTLE.

Grand Display of Fireworks Will Be a Feature of the Engagement.

One of the most unique and what promises from the elaborate preparations to be one of the most entertaining events ever witnessed for a Fourth of July celebration is the blowing up of the battleship Vizcaya after an hour's fierce bombardment.

The ship has been built and is now floating quietly in the vacant square opposite the city hall. She is fifty feet long, carries four revolving turrets and

THE VIZCAYA.

To be blown up in Benton Harbor July 4.

its armor is not to exceed 12 inches. She will have a crew of not more than 300 men who will man the guns and the immense torpedoes that will be shot at the city of Benton Harbor. She is mounted with four 6-inch guns and one bow torpedo tube.

She will be a sight as she sails into Benton Harbor flying the Spanish flag and as she approaches she will begin the bombardment of the city firing shot and shell from her turrets and torpedoes from her torpedo tube.

The city's defenses will be ably maintained by the home guards which will man the forts on either side. The sham battle will continue about an hour when by an electrical contrivance the big battleship will be blown up resulting in a great victory for the American troops.

In order to furnish the best of accommodation the committee has concluded to erect grand stand seats on Sixth street, which will be wholly out of danger for those desiring a nearer view of the fireworks and will be sold for the small sum of ten cents to defray the incidental expenses. These seats can be secured all day at any of the four drug stores on the four corners.

You cannot afford to miss this. It will be grand and exciting. The bombardment commences at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Changed Its Mind.

The Niles Star has occasionally abused Roman I. Jarvis of late but now has repented and says:

The Benton Harbor NEWS prints it that the Hon. Thomas O'Hara will support R. I. Jarvis for congress. We don't believe that Mr. O'Hara said so, and neither do we believe that Mr. O'Hara said he wouldn't support Jarvis. However, 'tis certain that R. I. Jarvis is the most available congressional candidate the democrats have, and he will no doubt make a better showing than any other man. With this in view, the democrats should certainly give Mr. Jarvis another chance.

Young People's Picnic.

W. C. Hall, of Three Oaks, president of the Young People's Picnic association of this county, issued a call for a meeting of all the vice presidents at Berrien Springs next Tuesday, July 5, to name a date, location and make arrangements for the picnic this year.

HERE'S A HOT ROAST.

Mayor Brant Tells What Congressman Hamilton Did in Congress His First Term.

IT'S SCARCELY A COMPLIMENT.

Similar to the Biography of Senator Burrows Recently Given by Governor Pingree.

Every person in Michigan has read Governor Pingree's history of what Senators McMillan and Burrows have done for their country. The "history" is not calculated to add to the strength of the two senators.

In the same strain and along the same line of reasoning Mayor Brant has sized up the work of Congressman Hamilton of this district. He was asked before a crowd today what Mr. Hamilton had done for this district.

"He has done lots," said the new boss of the Berrien county democracy. "Why Benton Harbor taxpayers sent down to Washington $500 for a harbor appropriation and it was given to Mr Hamilton to use. And he used it, too. He made a campaign supper and invited the other congressmen in and he made a whale of a reputation for himself. Of course we didn't get a harbor appropriation but it was only the unreasonable fellows who expected one."

Michigan Pensions.

Michigan pensions were granted Thursday as follows: Original—Nathaniel N. Murphy, Bay City, $6; John H. Burr, Martin, $6; Frank Weiller, (dead) Detroit, $8. Sweetest Love Story In Literature.

"Wherever Mrs. Browning trod, whatever she touched, became endowed with the sacredness of her presence," writes Clifford Howard of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning in Ladies' Home Journal. "When Mr. Browning returned with her on a visit to England, after an absence of several years, he repaired to the little church in which they were married, and there, at the entrance, he reverently kneeled and kissed the paving-stones upon which she, the light of his being, had stepped. And in after years, when the light had gone from his life, he sought this sacred spot on the twelfth of each September, and in the dusk of the evening shadows passers-by might have seen a white-haired man kneeling for a moment as if in prayer before the doorway of the dark and silent church. Yet little would they have thought to recognize in this man the poet Browning; he whose mystical writings had led the world to regard him as a man of austere nature."

TWIN CITY TELEPHONE 172.

SATURDAY, JULY 2. 1898.

THIS old town didn't wait for night today for a genuine "hot time."

No edition of THE EVENING NEWS will be printed Monday, July 4.

The first day of the new war stamp tax cost Benton Harbor people between $5 and $10.

THERE is a misunderstanding concerning the provisions of the war revenue law in regard to requiring receipts to be stamped. There is no such provision in the law. It appeared in the original bill and was striken out at the last moment. No receipts for money requires a revenue stamp.

THE Vermont college that made Governor Pingree an LL. D. did better than it knew. There are several politicians in Michigan who will require the services of a doctor this fall and Dr. Pingree will gladly administer to their wants free of charge. The doses the new doctor gives are guaranteed to cure all opposition or kill.

THE Chicago stereotypers have gone on strike because they received only $19.50 per week for six days' work, eight hours to the day. It takes no great skill and a very small quantity of brains to become a good stereotyper and the strikers were the best paid men on the city papers. They will have the sympathy of no one if they are out of a job.

THE printers employed in the Robert Smith state printing office have gone out on a strike because the proprietors would not allow them ten hours' pay for nine hours' work. The scale paid by the state printing office is $13 per week. Traveling heelers, too lazy to work themselves, succeeded in getting the men dissatisfied and the strike followed. Robert Smith & Co. can get an army of printers glad to work at $13 per week.

THE people of the United States are anxiously awaiting news of the fall of Santiago. This is the first battle of the war and while there is no doubt as to the outcome it will be a glad relief to thousands of homes to know that the Spanish stronghold is taken. In this battle many have fallen and will fall today and the horrors of war will be realized the land over. War would be a pleasant pastime if only the enemy fell as was the case at Manila.

THE express companies have shown themselves very unpatriotic by trying to compel the shipper to pay the revenue stamp on express packages. The law distinctly says that the express companies shall pay this tax, but the express companies are trying to dodge their share of the war expense and shift the burden on the shipper. Detroit merchants have begun legal proceedings against the express corporations to compel them to act white.

Paper Business.

Perley W. Hall, agent of the Chicago Times-Herald, received the following postal card this morning:

Chicago, July 2.—Dear Sir: A strike was declared in all of the newspaper offices of Chicago on the evening of July 1 by Stereotyper's Union, No. 4, I. T. U. They are now being paid $3.25 a day, eight hours' work. They demanded $4 a day, seven hours' work, and 75 cents an hour or any fraction of an hour over time. These demands the papers considered unjust, the union ordered a strike and consequently The Chicago Times-Herald, The Chicago Tribune, The Chicago Record, The Chicago Inter Ocean and The Chicago Chronicle were not issued on Saturday, July 2.

As soon as The Times-Herald is again issued, your order will be promptly filled as usual.

Very truly yours,

CAMP ALGER WATER.

Its Wholesomeness a Matter of Dispute Between Army Officers Interested.

WELLS HARDLY CONSIDERED SAFE.

Gen. Garretson Expecting Some of His Troops to Move Toward the Front Soon —Uncle Sam Has Begun Paying Off the Boys at Camp Thomas—May Begin Monday—Big Force Fully Equipped—Illinois Colored Troops in Camp.

Washington, July 2.—General Garretson, commanding the Second brigade, First division at Camp Alger, Virginia, yesterday sent for the colonels of the regiments which make up that brigade for the purpose of holding a conference. It has transpired that General Garretson expects one regiment, and a half of another regiment, to leave soon, and he has chosen the Eighth Ohio and half of the Sixth Illinois. The other six companies of the Sixth Illinois and the Sixth Massachusetts are to break camp not later than Monday, according to this story.

Fear of the Terrible Typhoid.

The fear of typhoid still prevails in the camp, and Majors Parke and Devine, acting surgeons, have been investigating conditions tending to produce this malady. One of these surgeons said that "one patient could put the whole camp on its back." The water supply is looked upon as the principal source of danger. Some of the wells are sunk to a depth of sixty-five or seventy feet, but it is said to be possible for the germ of typhoid to reach that depth, owing to the sandy nature of the soil.

Will Report Direct to Alger.

The surgeons making the investigations say that if when their report is made Chief Surgeon Girard persists in holding that the water is pure they will forward their report to the war department. General Gobin has promised to see that this is done in case Colonel Girard maintains his position. A special commission has been appointed to investigate conditions in the quarters of the New York cavalry, which now has five men at Fort Meyer suffering with typhoid. Complaint is made that the government has supplied no lime or other disinfectants.

GENERAL JAMES F. WADE.

Paying Off the Volunteers.

Chickmauga Park, Ga., July 2.—The intense heat the park yesterday made drill work rather exhausting, but the regiments were active in all parts of the park. The muster and pay rolls of numerous regiments were submitted to Colonel Glenn, chief paymaster, Thursday evening and yesterday the paymasters began handing out the cash. A number of regiments were paid for nearly two months' service, the average amount per regiment being about $25,000. Among the first regiments paid were the Second Wisconsin, Sixteenth Pennsylvania, Third United States cavalry and the First Ohio cavalry. Target practice will begin in all parts of the First corps within a day or two.

Movement of Troops to the Front.

Colonel Lee, chief quartermaster, says that every arrangement to send the First corps to the front is about completed and an order to go could be complied with at once. All plans for the movement of the troops have been definitely settled. Two brigades will go out each day after the order has been received. At this rate the entire corps can be put out of the camp and on the way to the front within five days. Recruits continue to arrive from various states. Up to this time about 7,000 have reached the park. There are between 5,000 and 6,000 yet to come in addition to new battalions for four of the Pennsylvania regiments.

ILLINOIS COLORED SOLDIERS.

Six Companies from Chicago Go into Camp at Springfield.

Springfield, Ills., July 2.—The six companies of colored troops of the Eighth regiment arrived in Springfield shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday and were immediately marched to camp. Colonel Marshall, commanding the colored regiment, quartered his men in the rear of machinery hall, and then began the preparations for laying out his camp. He hopes to have enough tents to quarter the men and thus keep them together, rather than have half in tents and half in the building. Colonel Marshall says he brought 650 men from Chicago, and 300 soldiers came from Cairo, Mound City and Metropolis.

They carried huge flags and were accompanied by drummers. The men were heartily cheered upon their arrival. The colored companies from Quincy, Bloomington and Litchfield arrived in the afternoon. The Springfield companies went into camp yesterday morning. The Chicago boys had a pleasant trip and are well satisfied. Colonel Campbell's men of the Ninth regiment have been detailed at steady work and are accepting their duties without a murmur. Colonel Campbell has his bath house running. The camp equipments furnished by the government have arrived and are in use. There is no sickness in camp up to this time.

General James H. Barkley, of Springfield, recently assigned to duty with the Seventh army corps, General Fitzhugh Lee commanding, received orders from commanding general at Jacksonville. The Second Illinois regiment is a part of the Seventh army corps, so the indications are that General Barkley will have at least one Illinois regiment in his brigade.

Third Call for Volunteers.

Washington, July 2.—It can be stated positively that the president does not contemplate issuing a third call for volunteers within the next two weeks at least, as present plans in all probability will preclude its issuance within a fortnight, if then.

Fire at Camp Douglas.

West Superior, Wis., July 2.—A special to The Leader from Camp Douglas says: The bath house and pumping station on the grounds were destroyed by fire yesterday morning and the troops now here are without water.

FIRST HALF IS SATISFACTORY.

Meaning the First Half of the Business Year, as Bradstreet Thinks.

New York, July 2.—Bradstreet's says: The first half of the year closes with a very satisfactory showing possible in many lines of trade, as evidenced by the returns of bank clearances, railroad earnings, and by that infallible barometer of the mercantile world, business failures. Harbingers of the future are found in the generally favorable crop prospects, not only of cereals but of cotton, fruits and most products of agriculture, and a continued heavy foreign demand for American products. The situation in iron is a rather mixed one, most complaints coming from the west. Pig iron and steel rails reflect the lessened activity in a shading of prices.

Doubts are expressed as to the ability of the pig iron makers to control production, and the next two weeks will probably be full of interest to the iron trade generally. The tone of the wheat market continues bearish. Rather less steadiness in prices is observable, most cereals, pork, lard, cotton, and several makes of pig iron being lower for the week, while the list of advances is exceedingly small. Steadiness has been a feature, however, of raw wool, hides and heavy leather, coffee, sugar and print cloths, copper and lead.

In spite of unfavorable features there were fewer failures, smaller liabilities and consequently smaller assets this year than in any previous year for four years past. Business failures number 6,429, 8 per cent. fewer than a year ago; 15 per cent. less than two years ago and only 3 per cent. larger than in 1893. Liabilities, too, are smaller, aggregating $72,120,341, 23 per cent. smaller than last year; 31 per cent. smaller than two years ago; 9.5 per cent. smaller than in 1895 and 57 per cent. below those of 1893.

NEW WAR REVENUE STAMPS.

Requisitions for 200,000,000 Honored—Great Rush for Them.

Washington, July 2.—It was stated at the internal revenue bureau yesterday that fewer complaints of inability to get the new revenue stamps were received yesterday than were expected. The requisitions of the collector for an estimated three months supplies amounted to about $400,000,000 stamps. These requisitions have been honored to the amount of over 200,000,000, and other shipments will be made as rapidly as possible. In a number of cities large crowds are reported as standing in line at the collector's office waiting to purchase stamps, but no serious inconvenience or trouble has been reported so far.

There seems to be some danger that the supply in the hands of collectors will be exhausted before renewals can reach them, but the bureau of engraving and printing and the internal revenue forces will work night and day as long as the situation seems to require, and before the middle of next week every one, it is expected, will have an ample supply to meet all demands.

Camara's Fleet Goes to Sea.

London, July 2.—A dispatch to Lloyds from Port Said says that the Pelayo, Emperador Carlos Quinto, Osada, Patriota, Buenos Ayres, Isla de Banay, Rapido, San Francisco, Isla de Luzon and San Ignace de Loyola have gone to sea.

SPEAKING THE SHIPS.

Untraveled dweller by the haven side,
I saw the great ships come, sojourn a day,
Then set their eager sails, their anchor weigh
And give themselves to rocking wind and tide.
I spake them not, nor they to me replied
Of where their void and lonely journey lay.
Now, since my lips have tasted midsea spray,
In common speech I hail those wanderers wide.
To this, "Proud Scotia gave thy ribs to thee!"
To this, "Thy masts have known the Apennines!"
Or, "Tagus empties where thy frame was planned!"
Or, "Say, thou gallant one, if true it be,
Thou hither camst with hoard of Levant wines
And dulcet fruits from many a sun loved land!"

—Edith M. Thomas in Century.

A FRIENDLY RUSE.

Mr. Garraway stood up as young Mrs. Bradshaw rose from her seat at the dinner table. It had been rather a quiet dinner, and he had had to do nearly all the talking. Bradshaw opened the door, and Mr. Garraway noticed that each avoided looking at the other. Ernest Bradshaw closed the door and came back to the table. He cracked a walnut, and on opening it threw it into the fire.

"Bad?" said Mr. Garraway. He was starting a cigar and he had refilled his glass. He was perfectly at home with the Bradshaws.

"Yes," said young Mr. Bradshaw violently. "Of course it's bad. Worst of it is that you never know until you try."

Mr. Garraway owed his success as a solicitor mainly to knowing exactly when not to do the wrong thing. Young Bradshaw lighted a cigar and after a few puffs let it go out. Then he stood up with his back to the fire—it was his fire—and looked at Garraway.

"I want to ask you something, Garraway. Do you ever have people coming to you to draw up deeds of separation?"

"Oh, yes; pretty often."

"Well, would you mind being of some use to me—and to Ellen?"

"Why, certainly. I've known you both—Mrs. Bradshaw especially—for a long time. But you two don't want to be separated? Why, man alive, you haven't been married a year!"

"Garraway, look here. We have had a row, a dispute, or whatever you like to call it."

"What I should call it," said Garraway, rising and speaking with some acerbity, "would be a little disagreement between two excellent young people who ought to know better."

"Nevertheless, my dear Garraway"—the young husband's lips quivered—"nevertheless we have agreed to part."

On the piano in the drawing room up stairs a few chords were struck and the clear voice of Mrs. Bradshaw rang out. Garraway, getting on in the thirties, and sober man of law, found the hand that held his cigar shaking for a moment.

"You see," said Bradshaw; "perfectly jolly over it."

There was a sudden stop and a crash on the piano, as though the player could keep it up no longer.

"Look here, Bradshaw"—Mr. Garraway passed his hand carefully over his smooth, spare hair—"look here. Call at my place at 11 tomorrow morning, and I'll do what is wanted."

"Thank you, Garraway."

"Shall we go up stairs? I must arrange with her."

The demure, precise little clock on the mantelpiece in Mr. Garraway's chambers struck 11 o'clock. A small boy entered with a card.

"Thank you, Judd. Show the lady in, Mr. Gibson."

Mr. Gibson withdrew his work to the outer office, stepping aside at the door to permit a slim, girlish figure to enter.

"How do you do, Mr. Garraway? I'm not late, am I? I did not know the place, and I had a little difficulty. I presume you are aware of the nature of my errand?" said the visitor.

"We often have little difficulties in the law, Mrs. Bradshaw. If everything worked smoothly, we would starve. I had no chance of speaking to you last night," said Mr. Garraway, "excepting to ask you to call, but I had a brief conversation with Bradshaw, and he assured me that you had quite made up your mind about the matter."

"He is, in this particular instance, quite right." She put her lips together and looked as determined as she could.

"And so I am to draw up the deed of separation?"

"If you please."

"It's rather rough on me," went on Mr. Garraway, with an effort at humor. "Why, it seems only yesterday that I was his best man, and you and he went away to Neuchatel, and we cheered you as you left Victoria station. Do you remember?"

"Would you mind telling me, please, when the document can be drawn?"

"And do you remember your first dinner after your return, and how jolly we all were? Why, you were as comfortable as anything until a week or so ago—weren't you?"

"What I propose to do," said the stern young lady, with just the suspicion of a catch in her voice, "is to go abroad with my aunt for a year or two and leave the house just as it stands for Ernest to live in. He can get a housekeeper, you see, and"—

"By Jove!" cried Mr. Garraway. "That's not a bad idea!"

"You think—you think it will work all right, Mr. Garraway?"

"Oh, I think so! I'll tell you why. Of course you want Ernest to be comfortable, don't you?"

There was a softening of her eyes.

"Oh, yes! It is only our one great quarrel of last week that is parting us, and"—

"I know; I know. Now, look here, Mrs. Bradshaw. I wouldn't take so much trouble if I were only your lawyer, but I'm your friend as well, am I not?"

"Dear Mr. Garraway, we two have always been good friends."

an old friend, to give you a little advice? I should advise you to make up this difference of opinion with Ernest. I'm told—of course I'm only a bachelor—but I'm told that all young couples have their quarrels to begin with, and they do say—here again I speak, of course, as a mere bachelor—that the making up is always the most delightful part of it."

"Mr. Garraway, I thought you would argue in that way, and it is very good of you, but my mind was made up before I came here, and nothing that you can say will alter it. A woman must judge for herself in these matters."

"Quite so. I think that to a certain extent you are right, and if it is useless to say anything after your present resolution, why"—

"You may be sure of that," said young Mrs. Bradshaw confidently. "Ernest must put up with the consequences. And you will see to the drawing up of the deed?"

"It shall be put in hand at once."

"I should like to leave London this day week if possible."

"I dare say," said Mr. Garraway, with great amiability, "that that can be managed."

"There is only the question of a housekeeper. Somebody must be there to look after the servants."

"It is there I think I can be of some assistance to Ernest." Mr. Garraway spoke with genial assurance. "It so happens that a client of mine is looking for precisely a situation of this kind."

"How extremely fortunate!"

"She is a good manager, she's a widow, and she has had charge of a house similar to yours."

"That's capital. As I say, I shouldn't like the house to go to rack and ruin. When could this old lady come, do you think?"

"This—who?"

"This old lady. The widow. When could she come?"

"Oh, but"—Mr. Garraway smiled pleasantly—"you are laboring under a slight mistake, Mrs. Bradshaw. The lady is not old."

"Oh! She is not young, I suppose?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, she is rather young. By the bye, I ought to have her portrait here somewhere."

It had cost Mr. Garraway a shilling, this cabinet portrait, in a shop in the Strand that morning. The shopman couldn't tell him who it was, didn't know her from Adam, he said, but she was an exceedingly pretty girl in demure black, and the wily Mr. Garraway was content.

"Surely, surely, Mr. Garraway," gasped young Mrs. Bradshaw as she gazed at the portrait, "this is not the kind of person for a housekeeper."

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Garraway airily. "She'll do all right. Bradshaw would like her very much, I'm sure, after she had been in the house a week or two. I'm told she is a capital manager."

The bunch of scented narcissus at the lady's bodice was bobbing up and down as she continued to look at the photograph.

"You see, the great thing is to get some one who would make poor Bradshaw comfortable and not compel him to be always at the club."

She put the photograph down on the table.

"This lady," said young Mrs. Bradshaw definitely, "shall never come into my house."

"No," agreed Mr. Garraway sweetly. "Of course it would be in Ernest's house. I am sure that on my recommendation"—

"Do you mean to say, Mr. Garraway, that you would recommend a person like this for such a position?" Mrs. Bradshaw had risen from her chair and spoke indignantly.

"Now, Mrs. Bradshaw, pardon me. I can't allow you to speak ill of a client of mine. I have every reason to believe that she is a well bred young lady and comes from one of the best families. I have no doubt in my own mind that she will make my friend Bradshaw, whom I look upon as one of the best fellows in the world, very comfortable indeed."

There was a rap at the door, and the smart boy entered with a card.

"Show him in, Judd."

Mr. Garraway went toward the door to receive the newcomer, not before, however, he had seen a handkerchief go to the eyes of his young visitor.

"Bradshaw," he whispered at the door, "listen to me, man. Your wife's in there crying. Go and kiss her and make it up."

And bundling the worried young Bradshaw into the room in the most unprofessional manner Mr. Garraway went and spoke in the outer office with Gibson.

"I shan't be back for an hour, Gibson. Tell that lady and gentleman so if they ask for me. I'm going down to see counsel in the temple."

It was an hour and a half later that Mr. Garraway sauntered back. The small Judd followed him into his room and put some more coal on the fire.

"Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw gone, Judd?" demanded Mr. Garraway.

Master Judd said, "Yessir."

"What the deuce are you grinning about, Judd?"

The excellent Judd said it was nothing special. Being pressed, however, Master Judd confessed that, entering the room about 20 minutes after his master had left, he saw the gent and the lady kissing each other "like 1 o'clock and as 'appy as"—

"Judd!" said Mr. Garraway severely, "I am surprised at you. I am surprised that a man, just now perhaps of tender years, but one who is possibly destined for the highest honors, should be guilty of the highest impropriety—and gross unprofessional impropriety, sir—of noticing a matter of this kind. I'm surprised at you, perfectly surprised at you. Would you like very much to go to the theater tonight, you young scoundrel?"

Master Judd, with some emphasis, said, "Rather!"

"Then here's half a crown for you. Now be off. I'm rather behind with my
